Criminal and addictive behavior : tactics video (aqwz)

Adult; 23 minutes

VHS; 2002

Hazelden

VTR/RC 564/.C755/2002a

Inmates, not actors, candidly discuss the tactics they have used to exact power and control over others – in prison and out of prison. In a group setting as participants in a cognitive-behavioural treatment program, the inmates share personal stories about manipulating, intimidating, physically assaulting, and even murdering individuals, who got in the way of what they wanted. Raw, real and tragic, the inmates' stories reveal :

- how distorted thoughts and unresolved feelings fuel criminal behaviour
- why using drugs and committing crimes are fundamentally linked
- what it really means to take charge of your life and respect others

Criminal and addictive thinking – thinking about your thinking video : part 1 (aqxa)

Adult: 32 minutes

VHS; 2002

Hazelden

VTR/RC 564/.C755/2002b

Continued from the video : Criminal and addictive behaviour : tactics video. Among the inmates discoveries about the way they think are:

- seeing yourself as a victim allows you to victimize others
- distorted thinking leads to manipulative and aggressive behaviours
- feelings of entitlement and criminal pride play into distorted thinking
- in criminal thinking, self is first and everybody else is second

Criminal and addictive thinking – thinking about your thinking video : part 2 (aqxb)

Adult; 30 minutes

VHS; 2002

Hazelden

VTR/RC 564/.C755/2002c

Inmates, not actors, present a series of eight real-life, everyday prison scenarios that could easily escalate into violent incidents. After each scenario, viewers are asked to analyze the event, identify the feelings and distorted thinking involved, and determine possible replacement thoughts and behaviours. Using their own words and drawing from their own experiences, the inmates role-play situations that realistically portray how criminal and addictive thought patterns lead to destructive behaviours. The situations include:

- an inmate's overreaction to a routing shakedown
- a discussion among three inmates about whether to retaliate for a fight
- a scuffle after an egregious foul on the basketball court
- an inmate's angry phone call to his spouse who refuses to send money
- a quarrel between roommates about how to resolve a conflict

Criminality and substance abuse (aqwy)

Adult; 28 minutes
VHS; 1993
Hazelden
VTR/RC 564/.C75/1993

Challenges criminal thinking and the link between criminal behaviour and substance abuse. This video is crucial for understanding the connection between substance abuse and criminal behaviour, and defining how to escape those kinds of behavioural patterns.

Flipping the world : drugs through a blue lens (alqr)

Senior 1-Senior 4; 30 minutes
VHS; 2000
National Film Board of Canada
VTR/HV 5824/.Y68/F55/2000

A culturally diverse group of seven high school students meets with members of the Odd Squad – Vancouver police officers who, since 1998, have been filming people addicted to drugs. But this is no ordinary school anti-drug presentation. The students talk to the cops, then meet young people who are in recovery, and others still struggling with drug addiction. In the process, their views on drugs and the people who use them undergo important shifts. The students become more understanding and empathetic – and they reveal their own drug experiences.
